Circle of Stones Ritual Theatre Ensemble presents their highly anticipated production of Gilgamesh. This tremendous and transformational theatre production heralds a vision for a new Allentown. This original adaptation of the Sumerian legend has a cast of 35 professional and local actors, singers and dancers. It is directed by award-winning director, Steven Dennis, an Associate Professor of Performing and Fine Arts at DeSales University, and an Artistic Associate with the Pennsylvania Shakespeare Festival. This play is the culmination of three years of research and development and is funded by the generous support of The Alliance for Sustainable Communities-Lehigh Valley, Amaranth Foundation, Holt Family Foundation, The Kairos Trust, The One With the Earth Project, the Pennsylvania Council of the Arts, The Rider-Pool Foundation, Tom Moroz, PP&L, Olympus, Zion's UCC Church, the Open Society Institute (as a matching grant) and WDIY.

Why WDIY? Circle of Stones would like to express their appreciation to local, public radio station WDIY. WDIY brings us closer together by promoting things happening right here in the valley. In essence, we know who we are as a community when we tune into WDIY. Thanks, Bill, Sharon, Alison, Jim, Neil, Ron and Laura over at the station, for all you do for the arts and for our community!
